章节摘录

The given job interview turns out to be successful . Questions in this interview involve Wu Huanhuan ' S educational background , English proficiency , career objectives , knowledge of the company , personality traits , bonuses and promotion . Obviously , Miss Wu answers Hudson ' S questions intelligently and satisfactorily by means of several turn-takings in this conversation and she knows a lot of information which is relevant to that particular position . From her natural and prompt response , we can see that Miss Wu has made full preparation for this interview . Interviewers judge a candidate on the basis of their own communicative style (how they present themselves and interact with others) . Since “ You are what you talk ” in the job interview , candidates with a different communicative style may be judged negatively both in terms of their communication and their personality .
