前言

Lao Zi is considered the founder of early Daoism ( Taoism ) and studied worldwide . As has been observed by both oriental and occidental readers ( e . g . Hegel ) , the ideas of Lao Zi tend to be more philosophical in the pure sense of this term when compared with those of his contemporaries in China . It is commonly acknowledged that Lao Zi's philosophy is one of the main sources underlying the structure or formation of the overall psychology of the Chinese people

章节摘录

One is alarmed when in receipt of favor or disgrace .      One has great trouble because of one's body that he has .
What is meant by being alarmed by favor or disgrace?      Favor is regarded as superior , and disgrace as inferior .      One is alarmed When one receives them      And equally alarmed when one loses them .
This is what is meant by being alarmed by favor or disgrace .      What is meant by having great trouble because of the body?      The reason why I have great trouble is that I have a body .      If I had nobody ,      What trouble could I have?      Hence he who values the world similarly as he values his body      Can be trusted with the world
