前言

Red imperial buildings , thick city walls and tall city gates are the most common impressions of Beijing.

The city has a history of over 3 , 000 years and has been the capital for more than 800 years. The sublimity and grandeur of the Forbidden City lends an enduring air of magnificence and dignity to the time-honored city. Beijing is also a modern metropolis , encompassing all the latest trend-setting elements. Beijing therefore is a combination of two poles , classical and modern. And nightlife has become a distinctive label of the city.

When night falls , Beijing is a blur of lights as if it had donned a gorgeous gown. The Tian'anmen Gate Tower radiates a resplendent glow on brilliantly illuminated Chang'an Boulevard , while the majestic buildings around Tian'anmen Square are silhouetted by colorful lights. The flourishing Wangfujing and Xidan commercial streets bustle with crowds of people. The extensive walls of the Imperial Palace and beautiful corner turrets cast their graceful shadows onto the moat. It is an inveterate impression in most people's minds that coastal cities , such as Shanghai and Guangzhou , generally have richer a nightlife than inland cities do. The attraction of Shanghai's nights concentrates at the Bund. Those classical and modern buildings at the Bund look like crystal palaces under the veil of night and set off the imposing Oriental Pearl TV Tower and Jinmao Tower across the river. Shopping is an indispensable activity of Shanghai's nightlife. Guangzhou's nightlife is diverse yet worldly. Sauna , foot massage and Cantonese food are the centers of its nightlife. It is a long-standing habit of Guangzhou people to roam the streets after dinner , and then look for a midnight snack.
