章节摘录

If we could all just get along like these three unusual friends , we would live in a much different world. In human society , people often do not like others simply because they are different. Humans kill over this matter. In our normal and everyday life , people may not kill each other but may not be as friend-ly or open to those from a different background , with a different col-or , with different views , or even with a different style. In the animal kingdom , dangerous predators are not generally friends-they keep their distance. But in some cases (i.e.when being raised together) , animals and humans alike can learn to be good friends with those they might not have ever said hello to. In the short story below , you can see how a lion , a tiger and a bear (Shere Khan , Baloo and Leo) became true friends in the real world not a Disney story.Eight years ago , a lion , a tiger and a bear were rescued during a police drug raid" in Atlanta , Georgia (USA) . The little animals , two months old at the time9 were reportedly status symbols to their own-ers. The young animals were brought to the Noah's Ark animal res-cue center in Locust Grove9 Georgia. They were kept together there.Diane Smith , assistant director of the Noah's Ark zoo. said , "We could have separatedi them , but since they came as a kind of family , the zoo decided to keep them together. " The three , named Shere Khan , Baloo and Leo , lived with the zookeepers at Noah's Ark for eight years , but have just been moved to a special place just for them.

They are being kept together because now they would have great difficulty being separated and it is also such a touching example- of what friendships can be formed if we look past our differences. In fact , part of the reason for the move was to show people what has been created among such unlikely creatures. It is possible to see Baloo , who is a l , 000 pound bear , Shere Khan , a 350 pound tiger and Le09 who is als0 350 pounds messing around" like brothers. Baloo and Shere Khan are very close. That is because they rise early , as Leo being a lion likes to spend most of the day sleeping. It is wonderful and magical to see a giant American Black Bear put his arm around a Bengal tiger and then to see the tiger nuzzle' up to the bear. When Leo wakes up , the three of them mess around for most of the day before they settle down to some food. The animals do everything together , Jama Hedgecoth , founder of Noah's Ark zo09 says , "They eat , sleep and play together. Shere Khan is not used to the move , but Baloo , the bear , is very good at leading him on and making him feel comfortable and safe. "
