was in a daydream that Thursday afternoon, sitting in front of my computer, asked to write down the story of my many frequent trips to Mainland China, my livedexperiences, events and escapades with the Chinese people. Those were cherishedmemories, enthralled, full of adventure; souvenirs rich of unrivalled experiences, ofconspicuous flagrant knowledge through discovery of the old and the new.

作者简介

亚历克斯 (Dalita I. Alex) , Resides in Zurich, Switzerland. After finishing 2years of chemistry courses at college, she got a BA in history and philosophy. Married very young a businessman, a pearl expert, who took her for the first time to the Far Eastern countries. First to Japan where she lived six years; and with the wind of change over the pearl business, the couple deviated from their itinerary towards China. She speaks seven languages; one of those languages is Japanese. Her frequent business trips to the Far Eastern countries, especially China, broadened her knowledge on many fields, mainly on Chinese philosophy, human relation and health issues, which contributed to her works and writings. Her love for writing started very young, publishing articles at school and college. She is still writing articles in French and English on many subjects, especially essays about minorities. Her last book Ageless tells us about her challenge and secrets to prolong health and beauty.
