章节摘录

Here we have a picture. It takes us to a street in an English town. Let's study the picture, and develop an essay out of it. This is Walton Street. On the left-hand corner we see a road map. It gives you some idea of the town's size. It's neither very big, nor very small. It isn't a one-street town. It is medium size. Then we see three shops in a row, a fashion shop with large windows, and a bookshop and a hat shop. The last two seem to share a shop front. On the pavement are people who seem to have done their shopping and are heading for home.

In the foreground is a motorcycle with a young man taking his girlfriend out for a ride. Both have their helmets on. COULD THEY BE IN FOR SOME RECKLESS DRIVING? But why bother?
