章节摘录

In a society such as the United States or Canada , which has many national , religious , and cultural differences , people highly value individualism-the differences among people . Teachers place a lot of importance on the qualities that make each student special . The educational systems in these countries show these values . Students do not memorize information . Instead , they work individually and find answers themselves . There is often discussion in the classroom . At an early age , students learn to form their own ideas and opinions .

In most Asian societies , by contrast , the people have the same language , history , and culture . Perhaps for this reason , the educational system in much of the Orient reflects society ' S belief in group goals and purposes rather than individualism . Children in China , Japan , and Korea often work together and help one another on assignments . In the classroom , the teaching methods are often very formal . The teacher lectures , and the students listen . There is not much discussion . Instead , the students recite rules or information that they have memorized . There are advantages and disadvantages to both of these systems of education . For example , one advantage to the system in Japan is that students there learn much more math and science than American students learn by the end of high school . They also study more hours each day and more days each year than North Americans do . The system is difficult , but it prepares students for a society that values discipline and self-control . There is , however , a disadvantage . Memorization is an important learning method in Japanese schools , yet many students say that after an exam , they forget much of the information that they have memorized . The advantage of the educational system in North America , on the other hand , is that students learn to think for themselves . The system prepares them for a society that values creative ideas . There is , however , a disadvantage . When students graduate from high school , they haven ' t memorized as many basic rules and facts as students in other countries have .
