章节摘录

插图：Kevin wanted to buy some new clothes, so he went to a shop. First he asked for some trousers and tried them on. Then he took them off and gave them back to the shopkeeper and said, " Please give me a coat. " The woman gave him a coat, and said, "This one costs the same as the trousers. "Kevin took the coat and walked out of the shop with it. The woman ran after him and said, " You have not paid for the coat. ""But I gave you the trousers for the coat, and they cost the same as the coat, don't they ?

""Yes, but you didn't pay for the trousers either.""Of course I didn't. I did not take them. I am not stupid. No-body gives things back and then pays for them. "
