章节摘录

版权页：插图："Why are you always interested in water ?

Are there any particular reasons ?

" Confucius said, "How great the water is !

It obtains the Way, as it treats all the things on the earth naturally. When flowing, it follows the topography——it flows downwards when it meets the swale, it makes a turning when it meets the corner. It is accordant with the Way, following its own nature; it surges and never exhausts. Once it forces an outlet, it responds quickly and naturally. It valiantly rushes to the deep valley, or fits into vessels peacefully. It is fair——once it fills up the bottle, it does not expect more; it is perceptive, plaint, and ubiquitous.
